The above Lumber was sawed by W. J. Moore, one of the first class sawyers and Engineers in Texas, who still stands at the head of affairs. It was taken from a fresh Pinery, and sawed by new machinery. Those who may favor me with a call, will find my Lumber carefully stored, and I flatter myself to fill a bill as quick and of as good a quality of Lumber as can be fitted up at any Mill in Eastern Texas. Give me one call and see for yourselves. Four miles North-east of Starrville, Smith county. The above is my Cash Prices, 10 per cent will be added on time.

R. T. McFarland.
The Dallas Herald thinks the proposition of the Sherman Patriot, to form a new State of a portion of Texas and the Indian Territory, will stimulate Abolition emigration to that section.

We call attention to "Dissolution" Advertisement of Messrs. Davenport & Larkin. The old business is in the hands of Dr. Davenport, and he calls on debtors to come up and settle, paying the money in part, and giving notes for the balance. It will also be noticed, that A. E. Larkin & N. C. Harris, have purchased the establishment, and will hereafter, as heretofore, keep on hand, and for sale on good terms, a large assortment of pure drugs, chemicals, oils, paints, surgical instruments, and in fact, everything kept in a first-class Drug Store. We know Messrs. Larkin & Harris, to be men of unwavering integrity and sterling business merits, and we bespeak for them a liberal share of the public patronage.

See advertisement of O. Kolstad & Co. in this issue. They need no commendation where they are known, and only a trial where they are not.

W. H. Cousins showed us yesterday a new lot of tobacco which he had just opened. We pronounce it very good and very cheap. You can't do better than to buy groceries from this house.

The Sherman Monitor mentions a rumor that Gen. Houston intends to remove to Grayson county, and become a candidate for Governor of the new State to be made out of north Texas and the Chocktaw [sic], Chickasaw, Cherokee and Creek nations. The rumor lacks confirmation. The new State has little favor with the Monitor.

Letter from Col. R. B. Hubbard.
The following private letter from Col. R. B. Hubbard, contains interesting details of affairs at Austin. The Col. will pardon us for taking the liberty of its publication:

Austin, Texas, March 24, 1861.

James P. Douglas, Esq.,

My Dear Sir:--I embrace this opportunity of writing you a short letter, by our fellow-citizen, Col. Jones, who leaves to-morrow for Tyler. He will inform you more particularly than I can in the limits of a hurriedly written letter, of the acts of the Convention. Suffice it to say, that General Houston, failing and refusing to take the oath prescribed by the Convention, incidental to and demanded by our change of government, the office of Governor was declared to be vacated. Lieut. Gov. Clark now fills the Gubernatorial chair de facto and de jure.—The Legislature recognise the act of the Convention, by holding official communication with the late Lt.
Governor as the present Executive of Texas. The Convention has left to the Legislature all matters of legislation over which the State Constitution gives it legislative power, and has very properly abstained from any interference with the province of the Legislature, and made no changes in the organic law, except such as were called for by the act of secession. What changes were made, I think, will commend themselves to the country, as eminently necessary and proper. The most important act of that body was the ratification of the Permanent Constitution of the Confederate States. The Convention wisely, I think, took the responsibility of doing this, and their action, I am confident, will be approved by the whole State. That instrument, which you have doubtless seen ere this, is all that the advocates of States rights and the lovers of republican government could demand. All the clauses in the old Federal Constitution of doubtful construction have been stricken out, and we have presented to us a compact which secures, for all time, liberty and equality, and whose provisions may be understood and appreciated by the humblest citizen of the Republic. You have seen that Texas, under that Constitution, is entitled to six Representatives in the Congress of the Confederate States. It will become the duty of the present Legislature to divide the State into six Congressional Districts which will be done at an early day, and upon the basis of the late census.

Inasmuch as the Congress of the Confederate States, under the permanent Constitution, does not convene until December next, and Senators will not be elected until the "regular" meeting of the Legislature, which takes place in the month of November. The permanent Constitution requires that elections for Senators shall be held at the first regular session of the Legislature next preceding the meeting of Congress.

Much business of importance to the State devolves upon the present Legislature. The State, though her resources are vast, is in debt, and the expense of protecting our exposed borders, incident to our change of government, has been necessarily great. This embarrassment will be, however, temporary in its character, and the debt incurred will ere long be doubtless assumed by the Confederate States. President Davis has already ordered the raising of one regiment for our frontier protection, and the men are now being enlisted for that service. The Convention has also provided for an additional regiment to be put in the field when the exigency demands it. To provide for these temporary wants is the duty of the Legislature. When the permanent Government of the Confederate States shall go into operation, better protection will be afforded us than we received at the hands of the former United States.

To relieve the State of present indebtedness, and to meet the demands of the future, will receive the earliest attention of the Legislature. We think that a system will be adopted which, based upon State securities, with the payment of interest provided for beyond contingency, as well as a "sinking fund," from the annual revenues, will enable the State to effect a loan, (the Convention having removed the constitutional restriction,) on most favorable terms; and that, too, without incurring the necessity of heavily increased taxation. I cannot, as yet, give you the details of the Bill. Our warrants will then be at par, and the State possess all the means requisite to carry on the government either in peace or war. In a revolution, however, like this, where liberty and self-preservation are the great impelling incentives to action, a patriotic people will not murmur at the burdens of government, if their imposition is necessary to triumph. The Legislature will do all in its power to organize the militia, and to secure arms for our volunteer companies. I think our session will end about the 15th April. In the meantime I will write you. Our delegation is well. Yours truly,

R. B. Hubbard.

The State of Texas,
Smith County.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff of Smith County—Greeting:

Whereas, Martin Horn and Julius Pabst, have this day filed in the office of the Clerk of the District Clerk of the district court of said county their petition, setting forth, that in the year 1860 they associated themselves together to buy and sell hides and peltrie on speculation, that sometime in December 1860, or Jany, 1861, they shipped to A. M. Hull, H. E. Hull and D. B. Hull, receiving and forwarding merchants in the city of Shreveport, and State of Louisiana, doing business under the name and style of A. M. Hull & Co., eleven bales of hides and peltry to be forwarded to A. D. Donovan, a commission merchant in the city of New Orleans and State of Louisiana, that instead of forwarding the said eleven bales, they disregarded their duty and obligations as such merchants, and appropriated six hundred dollars, a part of the value of said hides to their own use and benefit, and refuse to pay petitioners for the same, wherefore they sue to recover the amount thus appropriated, all cost of suit, and they pray for general relief, and as said A. M. Hull & Co., are non-residents of the State of Texas, they pray for process of service by publication in the Tyler Reporter.

You are therefore hereby commanded to summon the said A. M. Hull, H. E. Hull and D. B. Hull, by publication in the Tyler Reporter, a newspaper published in said county of Smith, four consecutive weeks before the return day hereof, to be and personally appear at the court house in the town of Tyler and said county of Smith, on the 17th Monday after the 3d Monday in February A. D. 1861, before the district court, then and there to be held, to answer the complaint of Martin Horn and Julius Pabst as per their petition filed an abstract of which is set forth, and have you then and there, this writ, with your return thereon how you have executed the same.

The above Lumber was sawed by W. J. Moore, one of the first class sawers and Engineers in Texas, who still stands at the head of affairs. It was taken from a fresh Pinery, and sawed by new machinery. Those who may favor me with a call, will find my Lumber carefully stored, and I flatter myself to fill a bill as quick and of as good a quality of Lumber as can be fitted up at any Mill in Eastern Texas. Give me one call and see for yourselves. Four miles North-east of Starrville, Smith county. The above is my Cash Prices, 10 per cent will be added on time.

Heavy Loss to Capt. Good's Artillery.
We regret to learn that Capt. Good, of Greer's regiment, while on the way from Dallas to Fort Smith, lost 2500 pounds of powder in crossing Red River.

The dispatch says that the powder wagon, in attempting to cross the river, stalled, and was abandoned for the night; and that during the night a sudden and tremendous rise came down and swept off the wagon with its entire contents. We suppose it was the artillery powder.

A Suggestion—Our Arms.

On Monday next a general collection of the people of the county will take place at the different polls. Would it not be a very suitable time for ascertaining the condition of the county as regards arms? Are we sufficiently armed? If not, how many do we lack? If an attempt is made to invade our State, will we be ready and prepared to meet it? These facts should be investigated and known. In order to do so, we suggest that the Captains or other officers of the military companies organized in the different Precincts in the county, and where no company is organized, by the Justice of the Peace or Constable, make, or cause to be made, an inventory of every gun in the county. This can be done with a little effort, and would certainly afford information which we very much need. Let them take a report of the number, kind and condition of the arms, make out their report and forward to the Chief Justice or some other public officer of the county, any of whom will, no doubt, take great pleasure in receiving and collating a full report of the same.

We understand that Col. Hubbard, agent to procure the "Planter's Loan," in this and some of the surrounding counties, has been actively engaged, as far as sickness in his family would permit, in presenting this subject to the planters. But the farmers being so busily engaged in securing their small grain and fodder crops, we suppose they have not generally attended the public gatherings where this subject has been introduced. . . .
A Camp of Instruction in Smith County.

We learn from Maj. Earle, just in from Camp Locke, that Capts. Brown and Smith, of the Rusk and Smith county companies, have determined to establish a Camp in this county, for the purpose of regimental drill. All organized companies in the sixth Military District are not only requested, but solicited to attend, on or before the 15th inst. The following named gentlemen have been chosen to select a suitable place for the Camp, viz: W. W. Ross, Dr. M. J. Lawrence, Frank Ross, and A. A. Holt. We understand that Capt. Brown is authorized by Col. Locke to form a regiment or Battalion as soon as a sufficient number of Companies attend.

(Communicated.)

Messrs. Editors:

Thinking that probably a short account of the two days occupied in the Examination of Prof. Wilcoxon's School at Starville [sic], and also of the concerts at night, under the supervision of Prof. J. B. Norman, might be of some interest to your numerous readers, I submit the following to your command.

All that can be said for the school, or for the manner in which the scholars acquitted themselves on the examination occasion, may be "quickly said." The school is a first-class one, and under the management of Prof. Wilcoxon, is eminently qualified for the thorough advancement of pupils, and for giving them a finished education, in the shortest possible time; then, the locality of the institution is unexceptionable—healthy, retired and pleasant; situated as it is, among people whose refinement and liberality is proverbial.

On the occasion to which I particularly allude (the 24th and 25th) the scholars displayed the greatest proficiency, answering all questions propounded with a promptness truly astonishing. The examination continued two days, and I have never witnessed a more thorough success.

Each night, the vast multitudes which assembled at the Concert rooms were regaled with the most soul-stirring melody from the different instruments, as they were touched by the beautiful fingers of Prof. Norman's pupils—sending forth on the soft southern air strains of the most ravishing sweetness. It is unnecessary for me to say anything commendatory of Prof. Norman as a music teacher; for he is so well known, and his merits so fully appreciated, that it is entirely useless. Suffice it to say, that he is the prince of musicians, and knows how to impart that knowledge to others.

On the last day, (Thursday) there was a most magnificent dinner prepared for all who were present. It was truly a sumptuous affair, and when with hundreds of others I was partaking, I was struck with the belief that no place in the State could go ahead of Starrville.

Not So Bad.

The Dallas Herald, of the 24th inst., contains a letter from Capt. J. J. Good, in which he gives a detailed account of the march of Col. Greer's Regiment from Dallas to a few miles North of Red River, where the letter was written. He gives a full description of the difficulties they experienced in crossing Red River, which shows that the result was not so bad as we heard a few days ago. It appears that Good's Company lost nothing there being nothing lost except Capt. Harris' baggage wagon.

We give the following extract from the letter:

"One gun and caisson passed over [the river], when I received orders to halt the ballance [sic] of the battery on this side, and let the train pass us. As it was impossible for us to cross until late at night, we were further ordered to camp on the bar, some of the boys bathing, others cooking, and all amusing themselves generally; when to the astonishment of all, and without any apparent cause whatever, old Red commenced rising. Our sand bar was at least four feet above the level of the river. The assembly was sounded, the order was given to pack up and hitch in horses. In ten minutes after the order was given, Lieut. Douglas' section wheeled out of Park and made for the high bank. The others moved up beautifully, but an unexpected accident for a while stopped everything. There were several baggage wagons on the bar waiting for the boat; the order was given them to vamoose to the high ground but there was but one narrow wagon way up the hill—the bar around this was choked up with baggage wagons, and we had to wait on them. The last one stalled right at the foot of the bank. After several efforts about fifty men put their shoulders to the wheels and rolled it up. * * * * *

Everything was saved, except Capt. Harris' baggage wagon. It and all his papers were a total loss. * * Among other things, the wagon contained several thousands of fixed ammunition for small arms.

July 19, 1861.  }

Dear Reporter:

Since writing you last, we have moved up to this point, without encountering difficulties. We are constantly in receipt of exciting news from Missouri, accounts of which you will have received before this reaches you. We are to have a spirited time in the South Kansas Division. On last evening a man claiming to be a messenger from McCulloch arrived in camps. He said he was sent with dispatches to Gen. Childs, who was authorized to raise a regiment. His story and the circumstances contributed to throw suspicion on him, and he has been taken prisoner. It will be remembered that a man named Childs has tendered a regiment to Lyon, the Federal General. It is possible that this regiment was to have been taken from some of the Indian tribes above this. This prisoner may be honest; if so he can demonstrate it at Fort Smith. If he fails to do so, he will be shot as a spy. The Chocktaws [sic] and Chickasaws are full of the war spirit. A war-dance is on hand at this place tonight. The soldiers are anxious to see it, but it is though imprudent for them to attend. A regiment of 700 Chocktaws [sic], under Col. Cooper, left this place for Fort Smith on the 10th inst. All the tribes of the Nation have concluded a treaty with the Confederate State, except the Cherokees. It is doubtful what they will do. There is a disposition on the part of the Indians to enter the Confederacy as States. They think they can sustain their rights under our States Rights Constitution.

I send papers containing all the news from the seat of war I am permitted to publish.

In haste,

J. P. Douglas.

General Order No. 5

I. By virtue of a commission as Brigadier General in the Provisional Army of the Confederate States, the undersigned assumes command of all the troops within the State East of the Brazos River and North of the old San Antonio road.

II. The Commanders of Regiments, Battalions and Companies within these limits, will report by express to these headquarters as early as possible, giving arm of service, strength of command, character, quantity and condition of arms, ammunition, camp and garrison equipage, hospital and medical stores, and transportation.

III. I announce as a portion of my Staff, Major John Henry Brown, Asst. Adjt. Gen'l; Captain Ben. E. Benton, Aid de Camp; and Capts. A. W. Terrill, E. S. C. Robertson, C. L. Robards and W. A. Pitts, Volunteer Aids de Camp; who will be respected and obeyed as such.

IV. All twelve months volunteers who have not re-organized under the furlough and bounty law, or the conscript act, will re-organize as early as practicable; and all officers not re-elected will be relieved from duty and their names reported to these headquarters.

V. All enlisted men under 18 and over 35 years of age, who desire it, will be discharged from the service; and no person who is to be discharged under this order will take part in the re-organization.
VI. All Regiments, Battalions and Companies North and East of this place (Tyler) including those of Col. Edward Clark, Col. W. B. Ochiltree, Col. Richard Waterhouse, and Col. Horace Randal, will take up the line of march, with as little delay as possible, for Little Rock, Arkansas, proceeding by the most practicable route from Marshall and Jefferson, and will report to the Commander of the Army West of the Mississippi River.

General Order No. 6.

I. It must be remembered that it is for liberty, freedom and individual rights that our country is involved in war, and that it is in defence of these that the citizens of the Confederate States are called to arms and have been, by law, constituted soldiers of the Government; and while every necessary step must be taken to secure the rights and interests of the troops, and the efficiency of the army, the rights and privileges of the citizens of the country, collectively and individually, must be respected and protected as far as possible.

II. The person and private property of the citizen must be respected and protected by the officers of the army and the troops under them; and in no instance will private property be interfered with, unless the necessities of the public service require it. If the emergency of the case requires any such interference, it must be done by order of the senior officer present.

III. Private property used for public service must be paid for at the time if possible; and if there be no money to pay with, certified accounts must be given, to be paid as soon as funds can be obtained for that purpose.

IV. Officers commanding troops in camps or on the march, will take the necessary steps to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquors to the troops under their commands, for any other than medicinal purposes; and when any citizen or person shall persist in selling to them, after being notified not to do so, his or their liquors will be destroyed.

V. Officers commanding Regiments, Battalions, and Companies are responsible for the conduct of their troops, and will be held strictly accountable for the rigid enforcement of this order. Any officer failing or refusing to comply with the provisions of the same will be suspended from his command.
VI. Commanders of Regiments, Battalions and other corps, will furnish each Captain in their respective commands with a copy of this order, with instructions to have the same read to his Company.

VII. Under instructions from the Commissary General of Subsistence, in future not exceeding one pound of fresh beef or half pound of bacon or pork, nor more than one and a half pounds of flour or corn meal will be issued to the ration. Commissaries are required to issue fresh beef five days out of seven, and bacon or pork for the remaining two days.

General Order No. 7.

The following proclamation is published for the information of all persons, alien residents, citizens and soldiers, within that portion of Texas East of the Brazos and North of the old San Antonio and Nacogdoches Road.

Gen'l P O. Hebert, commanding the Department of Texas, having declared Martial Law over the entire State:

I, Henry E. McCulloch, Brig. Gen'l Confederate States Provisional Army, commanding the section of the State above referred to, do proclaim and define the operation of Martial Law therein as follows:

"Every white male person above the age of sixteen years, being temporarily or otherwise, within the aforesaid limits, shall, upon a summons issued by the Provost Marshal, promptly present himself before said Provost Marshal to have his name, residence and occupation registered, and to furnish such information as may be required of him; And such as claim to be aliens shall be sworn to the effect that they will abide by and maintain the laws of this State and the Confederate States, so long as they are permitted to reside therein, and that they will not convey to our enemies any information whatever, or do any act injurious to the Confederate States, or beneficial to the United States.

All orders issued by the Provost Marshals in the execution of their duties, shall be promptly obeyed. Any disobedience of summons emanating from them shall be dealt with summarily. All officers commanding troops will promptly comply with any requisitions made upon them by Provost Marshals for aid or assistance.

Any attempt to depreciate the currency of the Confederate States is an act of hostility; will be treated as such and visited with summary punishment.

Provost Marshals shall arrest and imprison disloyal persons, and persons whose conduct and presence is regarded injurious to the interest of the Government and people of the Confederate States, found within their respective districts, examine the case, and report the facts to the Commanding General, who will, upon such report, decide what the punishment shall be.

No person shall be permitted to sell intoxicating liquors to officers or soldiers in the Confederate States Army, except for medicinal purposes, upon the recommendation of a Surgeon or Assistant Surgeon of the army, or upon the written order from the officer commanding the nearest military post or camp.

The Collectors of the Confederate States War Tax, in the Counties of Robertson, Madison, Houston, Angelina, Nacogdoches, San Augustine, Sabine, Limestone, Navarro, Hill, Johnson, Tarrant, Denton, Cook and all the Counties within the limits of the State North and East of those Counties, are required to come forward at once, and pay over, at this place, (Tyler) the money that they have in their hands to the Quarter Master of my Brigade, or such other officer as I may designate to receive the same, for the use of the army. Tax Collectors failing or refusing to comply promptly with this demand, will be regarded as unfriendly to the interest of the army, and will be summarily dealt with.—Military officers within this limit will see that this provision is carried into effect.

No interference with the rights of loyal citizens, or the usual routine of business, or the usual administration of the civil law, will be permitted, except when it may be necessary to secure the funds in the hands of public officers to be used for the support of the army or to enforce the provisions of this proclamation.

Mr. Editor:--Permit me through your valuable paper to inform the ladies of this town and county, that since our troops have been ordered to this place, the old hotel opposite the "Tyler House" has been selected and appropriated for the Hospital. I called around yesterday, and was pleased to find that out of some fifteen or twenty sick, only two or three were seriously ill. Others were convalescent, while others had been brought in from camps that day. On making inquiry concerning their wants, I was told by the physician that they needed everything, as the hospital had only been opened a few days. Old clothes, waste paper, &c., would all be acceptable, and that he would, as well as the sick, be pleased to see the ladies often. He hoped they would call as they did at Houston. He eulogised the Houston ladies greatly for their kind and faithful attendance upon the hospital while they were there. I remarked that it was only necessary for the ladies of Tyler to know where the hospital was located.

Ladies, we have our part to perform in this our country's struggle—let us be up and at work.

I would further remark that all the vegetables beyond home consumption, would be thankfully received and duly appreciated by the soldiers in camps. Let us watch over our gardens and suffer nothing to be lost, and let it be little or much, send it down to Geo. Yarbrough's old store for further disposition.

II. All persons who voluntarily entered the army of the Confederate States for three years or during the war, whether under 18 or over 35 years of age, will be held to their contract for that length of time, unless they are discharged under some special order to be given hereafter.

III. All enlisted men, who volunteered for less than three years or the war, that were in the army of the Confederate States on the 16th day of April, 1862, over 18 and under 35 years of age, are held for the service, under the provisions of the Conscript Act for three years or during the war, and will be so held until otherwise directed by the Secretary of War.

General Order No. 9.

I. The reputation, strength and efficacy of an army depends greatly upon the discipline of its troops. consequently the Articles of War and the rules and regulations of the army must be enforced. In order to accomplish this the more easily, it is made the special duty of Commanders of Companies to cause the Articles of War to be read to their Companies at least once in each month.

II. Commanders of Regiments, Battalions and Independent Companies will cause their respective commands to be mustered on the last day of this month (June, 1862,) and hereafter on the last day of every succeeding two months, in accordance with the regulations of the army.

III. Commanders as above will make Monthly Reports, Post and Field Returns promptly at the time they are due.

IV. The troops are needed in camp, and they will not be permitted to ramble through the country, or visit towns or villages without permission from their Commanding Officers, who are directed to restrict this privilege to cases of necessity or business.

V. The condition of the country demands the suspension of all leaves of absence and furloughs under the "furlough, bounty and conscript laws" for the present. Hence no leave of absence or furlough will be granted by Commanders of Brigades, Legions, Regiments, Battalions or Independent Companies for a longer time than five days. All leaves of absence and furloughs for more than five days must be submitted to the Commanding General for his approval, and none will be approved except in cases of great emergency.

Sir:--I desire to say to the people through your paper, that guns are needed by the troops now in the service.

There is a regular Government Agent (Col. John D. Stell) at this place, who will buy double barrel shot guns, muskets and rifles of all kinds, if with reasonably large bores.

The guns must be in good shooting order.

Col. Stell has the cash to pay for these guns at a fair price, and I earnestly hope the citizens of the country will send in every gun they can possibly spare that may be fit for immediate service.

Maj. Gen. Hindman urges me to bring all the arms I can get with the troops that go to Arkansas.—They will be needed, and no man ought to withhold a gun that he can spare.

Disastrous Fire.—About 2 o'clock last Wednesday night the extensive Foundry of Alexander McCowan, Esq., was discovered to be on fire. The alarm was first given by the watchman at the depot near by. In few moments the whole building was enveloped in flames. The fire companies were soon on the ground but their exertions were of no avail except in protecting surrounding property. The safe and its contents were saved, but all else was destroyed. Even the books were lost they being in a desk. We question whether the destruction of any other building in this city would prove so disastrous to the community at large as the loss of this one. It was fill[ed] with costly machinery such as planers lathes and valuable tools. The patterns lost had been accumulating for the last fifteen years and cost no less than 25,000. Their loss will be seriously felt, for they belonged to the machinery which is scattered all over the country. The entire loss is not less than $40,000. No insurance. The fire originated in the second story, in the pattern room, and was no doubt the work of an incendiary. The enterprising proprietor is already cleaning away the rubbish preparatory to the erection of another building. No obstacle will be thrown in his way, for his is universally esteemed, and he has the sympathies of the entire community in his great loss, and its best wishes for his future success.—

Thus has been given up on the altar of liberty the precious life of a noble youth and brave soldier while marching to the battle field of Elkhorn to defend the liberties and rights of his beloved country.

Willie was the favorite of the family, and for his amiable disposition and virtues was esteemed and well beloved by friends as well as relatives. In society for his morals, he was a moddle [sic], and never fell victim to those follies and vices so common to the soldier. Over the signature of "C," we publish a communication relating to the recent action of the Chief Provost Marshal in restricting the price of leather. C.'s remarks are correct and true, and in the proper spirit, and we endorse them fully. But the Provost Marshal knows, and the people should so consider, that it is not at all times an easy matter to determine precisely at what point extortion commences as to any given article, and that sometimes merchants and traders may seem to extort, when if the circumstances were known, the appearances would be changed. We are no apologist for extortioners or any other class of enemies to this Confederacy, but on the contrary, despise them with bitterness; but let justice be done to all. Now if we take an instance the cotton cards which are being sold here at $15.00 a pair, and enquire as to whether a case of extortion is here, we must first ascertain the circumstances—find out what the cards cost the merchant who has them for sale, what was his trouble, expense, &c.—for it is not reasonable to expect a man to sell a thing for less than it cost him, and the rules of trade allow a reasonable profit. This is true of all classes of trade and sales. The duty of Provost Marshals is to look into these matters and regulate them. As to the cards, the main question is and has been, where did they come from?

An Appeal to the Ladies of Tyler and Vicinity.

So far, in the progress of the present war, the ladies in and around Tyler have performed their part nobly, with unremitting and self-sacrificing devotion to our beloved country. By a glance at the complementary notices of the patriotic industry of the ladies in adjoining counties, it will be seen that the handiwork (and the hands work as the heart prompts,) of the women of Smith county exceeds by quadruple the amount accomplished by those of perhaps any other county in the State. We shall soon have finished hundreds of tents, and thousands of knapsacks, haversacks, &c., besides large quantities of clothing and hospital stores.

Circumstances have placed it in our power, and made it our duty and pleasure to do thus much. But, ladies, we have now before us a more fearful responsibility, an imperative duty, a duty which must not be neglected, if we love our country, if we have a hope of heaven! Are we, as wives, mothers, daughters and sisters, doing our whole duty to the sick now lying in our hospitals? Do we when we pray to Almighty God for mercy on our bleeding country—do we ever forget to ask, if the hard hand of disease is laid on our husbands, fathers, sons and brothers in a land of strangers, that His hand will raise up friends for them there?—that He will send around the couch of languishing disease true-hearted WOMEN, to render such service as is only in the knowledge of the hand of woman? Ladies, those of you who have not visited the hospital, go for a few moments. See yon fair-haired boy, all pale and emaciated as he is—approach him—place your hand tenderly on his brow—ask him if he feels better, and if he will take some nourishment? See his sunken eye fill with tears as he replies quickly, "If you please, madam, if you have anything which is not prepared here in the hospital." Listen now to the poor soldier on the next bed. He is dying. He sees you, and thinks of his mother, and asks you in piteous accents to pray that he may see his mother once again.

Ladies, this is no fancy sketch; it is a true picture of the constantly recurring scenes of a sad reality. Let us pray that the great God of our country will enable us to do our duty to those dear soldiers stricken with disease in our town. Then with His assistance, we shall succeed, and He will provide, too, for those of our own kindred who are suffering in a distant land.

For the more effectual accomplishment of our duties in a strict and constant attention to the hospitals, it is necessary that we should have some organized plan of proceeding. It is, therefore, suggested that those ladies who wish to assist in this good work, will meet at the Christian Church on Saturday, 26th inst., 3 o'clock P.M.

General Order No. 164

I. The foregoing order No. 20, from Major Gen. T. C. Hindman, is published for the information of all concerned.

II. Having been directed to assemble and organize the Texas troops who are to serve in the District which Gen. Hindman commands, it is necessary that I adapt my course to his views, which is the more agreeable to me, as I fully endorse them.

III. There are many persons, I learn, engaged in raising mounted men in Texas. This is a great interference with the proper enforcement of the Conscript law; and, under the circumstances, detrimental to the interest of the service. Hence I shall not recognise or accept the service of any troops, unless, they have been raised by order of the Secretary of War, Gen. Van Dorn, Gen. Hindman, Gen Hebert, or myself; and, as the troops that go to Arkansas must be accepted by Gen. Hindman or myself, I respectfully advise Texians not to enlist under any one whose authority does not emenate [sic] as above indicated. I might add further, that property bought on credit by persons who do not hold authority as above, may not be paid for by the Confederate States.

IV. It is advisable to suspend the raising of mounted men in Texas for service in Arkansas. Hence no more mounted men will be accepted by me, no matter by what authority raised, after the first day of next month; and all who are now in service and who enter it by that time, may expect to be dismounted at Red River.

V. Gen. Hindman informs me that some of the Rangers have deserted our cause in Arkansas.—These must be men from other states North of us, who have straggled into Texas and entered the service for plunder or pay. It cannot be that our people would be guilty of an act so base and so totally incompitable [sic] with their history and honor.—But it is immaterial where they are from, and what the pretended cause of their course, the must and will be arrested and punished. All military officers and Provost Marshals, are directed to arrest any and all deserters that may come within their reach, and send them to Little Rock by any military force going to that place or to these Head-Quarters.

In your last issue I notice an order from the District Provost Marshal, in which he restricts the price of leather to forty cents. This is as it should be; but why make this distinction alone as to leather? There are other articles equally important to the people. Extortionate prices are being made by the merchants. For instance, cotton cards are being sold by a merchant at this place at fifteen dollars per pair! Shoes and other articles that families are compelled to have, are equally high priced. It is to be hoped that the Provost Marshal will look into this matter, and amend his order by adding other articles of prime necessity, and restricting the prices of the same. I hope you will give this a place in your valuable journal. Let us have quality and justice in all things.

Hospital Stores.

The following communication explains itself. We trust it will be read with care by every one, and that a hearty response will be made. We call especially upon the "Aid Societies" of the county to come up manfully to the work they are called upon to do. In this way a brave people must and can purchase liberty—and liberty is cheap at any price, no matter what the sacrifice of money, of goods, of personal ease and comfort:

Henderson, Texas, July 17th, 1862.
Editor Tyler Reporter—
Sir:—You will see through the Jefferson and Marshall papers that I have been detailed by the War Department of the Trans-Mississippi District as Special Agent to Eastern Texas, for the purpose of getting up Hospital Supplies for the army. It being impossible for me to visit Tyler sufficiently early to put the thing on foot in time, I wish you would arouse the people to a proper appreciation of this call in your county, and through your paper the adjacent counties.

There will be a large army soon at Little Rock. Sickness is rife among them, and from the fact of being cut off from all resources of getting such things as hospital clothing, &c., it has been thought necessary that an agent be sent to Texas as the most suitable place to procure them. Have the Aid Societies to meet; have them to appoint committees for the purpose of inciting each neighborhood to a proper appreciation of the necessities of the army; have them to send their goods to the County Site, and from thence to Jefferson. We want old sheets, bed sacks or ticks, pillow cases, shirts, if to be had; bandages 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 inches wide; old linen, &c. I have been highly flattered wherever I have been, that this call will be responded to with alacrity, and from the interest manifested at Jefferson, Marshal and Henderson, by the gentlemen as well as ladies, I feel confident that the Department will not be disappointed in its expectations. I shall go from here to Nacogdoches, San Augustine, Rusk, and Cherokee counties, and to your section as soon as I can get there.

With implicit confidence in the press and the patriotism of the Southern people,
I am, sir, most respectfully &c.,
R. L. Smith.

Capt. A. U. Wright, Quartermaster in Taylor's (formerly Moore's Regiment[,]], requests us to state that he will be compelled to leave Texas for the army on the 1st of August. He is in Gilmer with funds to pay off the indebtedness of the regiment, and he earnestly urges all persons interested to call on him, or send their claims, without delay for payment.—Texas Republican.

Capt. Wright could have greatly accommodated many creditors if, instead of stopping at Gilmer, and inviting hundreds of men to ride there, he had gone where the principal debts were contracted.

Robbery!—Fire!
The residence of Mrs. Martha Rooks, about eight miles South of Tyler, on the waters of Mud Creek, was burned on the 4th day of this month. At that time the undersigned lost the following notes, which he believes were stolen from the house previous to the fire: Four notes drawn by Henry R. Cockrel, and made payable to me—one for $200.00; one for $161.00; one for $75.00, and one for $6.00. Also one note on Henry Kent, for $100.00, with a credit of $40.00. The public will watch for these notes, and inform on any one in whose possession they may be found, and thereby detect a very dangerous thief.

Any person having a hack and pair of horses to hire, can get a good price for them for several days, by calling at this office. We guarantee that good care will be taken of them if hired.

Our fellow-citizen, John Winship, has lost a splendid horse, and offers a reward for his recovery. Any one lending assistance in this matter will accomplish three very laudable objects, viz: get the reward, accommodate a clever gentleman, and aid a good soldier.

Messrs. Short, Biscoe, & Co., advertise for Gunsmiths. They want 30 or 40 good workmen.—See advertisement. We will mention here that these gentlemen are preparing to manufacture firearms extensively, and will soon have in operation at this place a large establishment for that purpose. We understand that they have just closed a contract for 5,000 guns for this State.

We give up much of our available space today to the publication of, perhaps, the blackest list ever published in this State—the names of those persons, claiming to be Texians, who have recently deserted from the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th Texas regiments, now in Arkansas. When the report of these desertions first reached us, we earnestly hoped there was some mistake; we can now only hope that these men are not real Texans, but those who have come among us for evil motives or to shun responsibilities in their own States. This is, we believe, the first stain upon the reputation of Texas;--God grant that it may be the last!

Yesterday a week ago, we attended, by special invitation, a barbecue given to Col. Speight's Regiment by the citizens in the vicinity of their encampment, twelve or fourteen miles North-west of this place. We arrived on the ground about 9 o'clock in the morning, and found the troops already on parade. The regiment was reviewed by Gen. McCulloch, who pronounced the troops well drilled. Gen. McCulloch addressed the regiment in a stirring appeal, the good effects of which were visible. Dinner time arrived, and with it a bountiful supply of such substantials as are customary on such occasions. A dinner at a private house could not have passed off more agreeably. After dinner, the troops and citizens were again assembled, and Col.
Speight in a chaste and neat address, returned the thanks of his command to the citizens for the honor done them. Major John Henry Brown, of Gen. McCulloch's Staff, being then loudly called, indulged in a short, pointed address—full of humor, good sense and excellent advice. Lt. Col. Harrison, being called, also indulged in a few pertinent remarks. The whole affair passed off well, and we believe all present enjoyed themselves, notwithstanding the intense heat of the day. Speight's regiment enjoys an excellent reputation for good behavior and the exhibition of all those characteristics which to go make the good soldier.

TYLER REPORTER, August 21, 1862, p. 3, c. 2-3

Reward for Deserters!

Headquarters, Tyler, Texas, } August 19, 1862. }

Major Gen. T. C. Hindman, commanding the Trans-Mississippi District, having transmitted to Brig. Gen. Henry E. McCulloch, at these Headquarters, a full list of the deserters from the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th Texas Regiments, now in Arkansas, the same is herewith published for information, and that the names of the recreants and cowardly apostates may become known and receive the scorn and execration of the people they have betrayed. The official list is as follows:

[Note: none from Smith County—following are selected for particular reasons]

15th Texas Reg't—Col. Sweet Commanding.
Comp. B. George Mills, Decatur, Wise County, Tex.
  "  " Henry McKinney, " " " "
  "  " Moses B. Hopkins, Hunt " "
  "  " Wm. J. Carver, Wise " "
  "  " E. John W. Davis, Tarrant " "
  "  " H. Thos. J. Williams, Hunt " "

17th Texas Reg't—Lt. Col. Hendricks, Com'dg.
Comp. A. B Candiff, Nacogdoches, Nac. Co. Tex
  J B Hardeman, " " " "

A reward of thirty ($30) dollars will be paid for the arrest and delivery of any one of these deserters to the commanding officer at Little Rock, Ark., or to the commander of any force on the march for that place. Any Quarter Master of such force, having the funds, will pay said reward.

Brig. Gen. McCulloch is satisfied that this first disgrace brought upon the name of Texas, is almost exclusively perpetrated by renegades from other States who entered Texas last fall and winter to avoid the struggle in Missouri and Arkansas, and joined these regiments in Texas only to escape an indignant public opinion. They should never be allowed to pollute our soil again. A few of the names of these miscreants are recognised as those suspected of abolition and toryism anterior to the secession of the State.

Died—On Monday, the 11th of August, inst., Thomas Green, only son of Jas. F. and Sallie J. Warren—aged one year and eight months.

While unrelenting death has been busy in the ranks of the young and middle aged, striking down man in the pride of his manhood, Azrial has flapped his dusky wing above the couch of infancy, and carried the spirit of an innocent child to be placed in the arms of its eternal Father. As the immortal parted from its clay, and sped its flight to that bright world where angels dwell, hosannas pealed forth from the heavenly choir, that another bright spirit in its infant purity had swelled the numbers of the blest.

Rev. J. W. Fields requests us to say that he will preach at the Methodist Church next Sunday. The church being no longer needed for a hospital, has been prepared again for worship.

The question of procuring clothing for our troops this winter is becoming one of startling interest. It is well understood that all the efforts of the Government in this direction will not succeed in meeting the demand, and that much must depend upon private contributions. Appeal after appeal is being circulated through the country from the various regiments [fold in paper] assistance. A people who have never yet failed to meet emergencies, will not now be slow to respond. Let every wheel and loom throughout the whole country be kept busy, with the single purpose of clothing our soldiers. Let those who have relatives and friends in the army, go to preparing clothing expressly for them. Let the clothing be ready as soon as possible, and we guarantee that means will be found to convey it to those who need it.—Remember that if a failure is made at home in this respect, much suffering among our troops must be the result.

If there is one thing more than all else, calculated to inspire in the mind of a stranger a small appreciation and opinion of Tyler and its citizens, that thing surely is the neglected, the wretched, the disgraceful condition in which our graveyard now is, and in which it has been permitted to remain for a long series of years. A few years ago, we remember, a feeble effort was made to put it in better fix, which resulted in shrubbing off some of the larger brush. This amounted to about the same as setting out five bushes to one—for we are sure they are thicker now than at first. If the yard had then been thoroughly grubbed, and the brush, large and small, been taken out and burned, future trouble would have been avoided. It is not too late yet to attend to this matter, and now that crops are out of the way, and business generally in a state of semi-suspension, let us, as citizens of a civilized country, attend to it. We have not a relative buried in the graveyard here, but we feel an interest in this matter, and are willing to pay our part. Who now will take the affair in hand, raise the money, employ hands, and see the work properly executed?
Speight, to-day published, it will be seen that the former has gone for a field of more active service, and that the latter has assumed command of the Post of Tyler. General McCulloch and his entire staff started for their field of operations on Monday morning last. In the card above referred to, written on the march and returned to us for publication, Gen. McCulloch pays the citizens of Tyler and vicinity, as well as of the surrounding country, a compliment which, whether fully merited or not, will be appreciated and most gratefully received. There are few men, occupying high positions, like Henry E. McCulloch,—who, while exhibiting all the high qualifications of an able General and gallant soldier, still feels and exercises all those nobler properties of the devoted christian and polished gentleman. Without ostentation or bigotry, he claims to be but the equal of every honest man and true patriot; and his ear is ever open to the claims of the low as well as the high—ready alike to deal justice to the humblest soldier in the ranks and the highest officer under his control. It was natural that such a man should gather upon his staff men whose characteristics were congenial to his own; and we venture nothing when we say that the officers of the staff are as complete gentlemen and gallant soldiers as Texas can boast.

In returning the thanks of the people of Tyler and vicinity for the compliment paid them through the card referred to above, we beg leave to say in behalf of the people, that however high an estimation Gen. McCulloch and staff may have formed of them, it cannot overreach that entertained by the people of this community for them.

But however much we may regret the necessity which has caused Gen. McCulloch to retire, we still find a pleasure in announcing Col. J. W. Speight in [fold in paper] tation of being an accomplished military officer and thorough gentleman. May he by his course here, win the esteem of the troops and people, and when he shall retire carry with him the blessings and good wishes of all.

TYLER REPORTER, August 28, 1862, p. 2, c. 2

We are now suffering from a long drought. Signs of rain for several days; none has yet fallen.

TYLER REPORTER, August 28, 1862, p. 3, c. 1

A Card.

Headquarters,
Camp on Sabine, Aug. 25, 1862.

On leaving Tyler for active duties in the field, Brig. Gen. McCulloch feels it a grateful duty, for himself and the Government, to acknowledge with sincere thankfulness, the generous support he has received and the patriotic efforts that have been made to aid the cause of our country, during his official sojourn among them, by the people of Tyler and the surrounding country. The citizens have manifested a noble spirit generally, in sustaining him in the discharge of the arduous and delicate duties devolved upon him. Order had to be established, where great confusion and military destitution existed. Munitions of war and supplies had to be gathered in a country already heavily drained. Aided and encouraged by the citizens of the country, he has succeeded beyond the hopes of the most sanguine. Heavy responsibilities stood in the way, and he assumed them, looking to the Government and the country to sustain him.

The ladies ever foremost in good works, have earned new claims to the high position they occupy. Through the burning heat of June, July and August, they have toiled in making tents and other needful articles for the army; and when disease had filled the hospitals, they appeared as angels of mercy attending upon the sick soldiers—the defenders of their altars and their honor, against the ruthless enemy of our country.

The citizens of the neighboring towns and counties have nobly responded to the solicitations sent them for contributions of hospital stores. The sick soldier, when suffering from disease or wounds on the tented field, will bless such citizens and such ladies. The soldier in health will be stimulated to fight with more unconquerable spirit for them.

To the immediate citizens of Tyler and vicinity, Gen. McCulloch desires to express for himself and his staff feelings of heartfelt esteem. Their social virtues and kindness can never be forgotten, but will remain as a green spot in memory through life. To bid adieu to them is more akin to severing family ties, than parting with friends of but recent acquaintance. May the be the recipients of every needed blessing, and long live in peace and happiness in the society they adorn.

Swift Retribution.—The Washington Telegraph of the 15th inst., says, some weeks ago, a negro man in Saline township, for attempting the chastity of a lady, the wife of a volunteer, who was promptly hung. Last Monday night a negro man who had been sometime runaway, and who had attempted the life of one of our citizens endeavoring to arrest him was taken in this vicinity and hung before day-light.

As a matter of humanity our citizens should inform themselves of particulars of all these facts and make their slaves well acquainted with them. If any of the poor deluded fools have entertained the idea that the present times give them any impunity to commit acts unbecoming their station, it is a mercy to undeceive them, before their lives become forfeit to their ignorance. Some of them may be misled by evil influences, to entertain ideas which will bring upon them sure destruction.—Shreveport South Western.

Confederate Court.

This court addjourned [sic] last Thursday at 9 oclock, P.M. closing a term of eight weeks. We learn that the session has been one of great labor and that an immense amount of business was transacted. Three clerks were employed constantly in writing the minutes of the court and the Receivers and their assistance [sic] kept diligently at work untill [sic] the close of the term. A large amount of money arising from Sequestration, will be paid immediately, by the order of the court into the Confederate treasury. The Receivers presented the first annual report of their proceedings, which ought to be published and generelly [sic] read. It is a clear able and intrusting [sic] document, showing the manner of their proceedings under the sequestration act. We hope to find room for its publication. It has seemed to us that the importance and value of the labours [sic] of the Confederate Court in admineristing [sic] the sequestration act are not sufficiently appreciated. The cruelties and outrages of our base enemies have been employed since the war begun [sic], and are still employed no only in making widows and orphans, but in plundering and destroying their only means of support, burning houses, furniture, food and clothing, stealing negroes, and laying in ruin the homes and the hopes of thousands of our citisens [sic]. To raise a fund to compensate as far as possible these hopes is the object and end of the labor of the Confederate Court. The fund is raised from property and debts of alien enemies, and the Government itself is the trustee for its disbursment [sic]. It is believed that this distuct [sic] will contribute to this fund more than ten millions of dollars, and that the entire cost of realizing and paying it over to the Treasury may not exceed two and a half per cent, and certainly will not reach five per cent of the gross amount realized.

The next term will commence in Thyler the first Monday in April 1863 at which time a Grand Jury will be empanneled [sic]. The Judge proceeds to Houston to open a term there the third monday [sic] in November which is to continue untell [sic] the middle of March.

The "Rebel" Soldier Boy.

The air hung heavy o'er the plain,
And on the earth's proud brest, [sic]
Mid blood, and strife--with friend and foe,
    The brave were "gone to rest."
The work was done—the harvest field
Was reaped, and thro' the storm,
Red banners hung in reeking folds,
    O'er many a stiffening form.

And blood that warmed one youthful breast,
Deaped [Seaped?] out upon the plain,
Nor felt the brow one soothing hand,
    To ease its dying pain.
No tender breast with pitying care,
Pillowed the noble head,—
The "rebel boy" at set of sun,
    Alone among the dead!

The "rebel boy" whom morn beheld,
In helm and crest arrayed,
Now ere his battle bed of death,
    Beneath the shadow's made.
Ere envious Heaven quenched the light,
O'er youthful valor thrown,
Proud glory's halo on his crest,
    One moment lingering shown.

And calm amid the storm he stood,
His cry the voice of War,
His gleaming blade the victor's guide,
    His eye the battle star!
Foremost he reached the captured guns,
Proudest of all his cry,
When with the watchword on his lips,
    Prouder than all—to die!

The "rebel boy" his lifeblood ebbed,
(Stern battles crimson foam,)
And whitening lips breathed out a wail,
    "My sunny Texas home!"
And his last cry spent its agony,
As the red tide laved the sod,
    "My home! my country's bleeding breast!
    "My mother," and my God!"

He died, no hand smoothed down the limbs,
So still in beauty there,
No gentle voice with cadence low,
    Breathed forth a farewell prayer.
But calm upon the shadowed plain,
His young brow moist with blood,
Mid din, and strife—with friend and foe,
    His spirit sought its God.

But Texas clasps her martyred son,
Close to her mail clad breast,
And lo! the halo of his fame,
    Enwreaths her glorious creast!
And tender hearts will yearning flee,
Where pitying breezes toy,
O'er him, alone among the dead,
    The "rebel" soldier boy!

TYLER REPORTER, October 30, 1862, p. 3, c. 3

To the People of the Trans Mississippi Department, composed of the States of Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

At no period since the commencement of the contest in which we are now engaged, has there existed a more pressing necessity for active and zealous co-operation on the part of the people of these States with the military authorities, than at the present moment. The partial occupation of the Mississippi River Line by our enemies has so far impeded communication with the other States of the Confederacy, as to compel those charged with the duty of providing for the wants of our army, to seek for and develope new sources of supply. Our army is in urgent need of blankets and clothing of every description, to enable them to withstand the rigor of the approaching winter, as well as to successfully oppose the invaders of our soil, and they can be furnished with but little from the other side of the Mississippi, or by the few manufactories now established in these States.

In this emergency, Maj. Gen'l T. H. Holmes commanding in this Department, relying confidently on the patriotism of the people, directs me to make an appeal to them for that assistance which all can afford to give without much individual inconvenience, and which, if promptly furnished, will greatly promote the success of our army. Every family throughout this Department, possessed of a spinning wheel and loom, is requested to manufacture as large a quantity of cloth (both woolen and cotton) as the raw material at its command will permit. Those who have no facilities for spinning or weaving, may assist in the good work by making up shirts, drawers, pantaloons, coats and overcoats, and by knitting stockings, making hats or caps, and shoes; while those who have looms adapted to the purpose, can furnish blankets or some other article answering the same object.

The clerk of each county in the States named is requested, either to take charge of or appoint some suitable person to receive and forward all goods manufactured for army purposes in the county in which he resides, to the nearest Post Quartermaster of the Confederate States Army, who will be furnished with funds to pay the same on delivery, with cost of transportation added. For his services, the agent who may attend to the collection and forwarding of these goods, will be allowed a reasonable compensation by the Post Quartermaster to whom he delivers them. No limit will be placed on the prices of the articles thus furnished—the General commanding having confidence that a patriotic people will not extort upon their government in its hour of need. The Post Quartermasters who receive supplies in the way indicated, are requested to forward them to these headquarters without delay, and, as far as possible, to keep this office advised of the amount of clothing being made in their vicinity for the army.
Merchants in these States who have for sale clothing suitable for army purposes are requested to furnish immediately to the nearest Post Quartermaster, a memorandum invoice of the articles, with prices annexed, to assist him in making purchases for the Quartermaster's Department. Authorized purchasing agents are also abroad in various localities and it is expected that the people will aid them in their efforts to procure supplies, by advising them as to the places where stored.

The Major General commanding does not deem it necessary to do more than inform the people of this Department regarding the necessities of the troops under his command, and suggest a plan by which they can be promptly and comfortably clad. He feels assured that this appeal will suffice to put in operation every spinning wheel and loom throughout the limits of the Department, and that neighbor will vie with neighbor, and community with community, in praiseworthy efforts to furnish clothing for the army.

Jno. D. Adams,
Capt. and Acting Chief Quartermaster,
Trans Mississippi District.

Capt. J. P. McKinney, A. Q. M., will appoint Agents from Austin to Palestine, and Capt. J. C. Kerbey, A. Q. M. will appoint Agents from Tyler, Smith county, to the line of Arkansas, to receive clothing to be forwarded to the soldiers of the army.

Names of the Agents will be published as soon as they have been appointed.

Editor Reporter: In your issue the 19th of August I observe quite a number of names published as deserters from the Army of the South-West, and among them I am surprised to see one evidently intended for my own. That it is an infamous lie I upon my character, intentions, or desire, the following document will show. I take great pleasure in referring to it, merely remarking that the publication must have been made through ignorance or maliciously, and is a lasting dishonor and disgrace upon those who are responsible for it; while it can never injure me.

Army of the Confederate States
Soldier's Discharge.

I certify that S. H. B. Cundiff, a private in Captain Noble's company (A) of the 17th Regiment, Texas Cavalry Volunteers C. S. A., was enlisted by Captain Thos. J. Johnson, on the 1st day of February 1862, to serve one year. He was born in Hamshire county, in the State of Virginia, is 26 years old 5 feet 10 inches high, fair complexion, blue eyes and dark hair, and when enlisted, was by occupation a practical Printer.
Said soldier is entitled to his discharge under the "Conscript Act," by reason of his being a Printer and actually engaged in the publication of a Newspaper at the time of his enrollment.

S. M. Noble,
Commanding Company.

Discharged this 16th day of July 1862, at Brownsville Ark.

Jas. R. Taylor,
Commanding 17th Reg't Texas Cavalry.

This is all that is necessary for me to do at the present, it shows that I was legally discharged on the 16th of July. In this unpleasant matter, at some future time, when all men are free and equal, I shall take the matter in hand again, and will fix the responsibility on some one, and then brand it if necessary, as a lie, in his face with steel, or his back with lead.

Other men who are there published as deserters, had their discharge authenticated at least fifteen days before the publication was made. Who is responsible for this? I refer to Mr. [illegible] and Geo. W. Bartin of Nacogdoches.

Very Respectfully &c.

Receivers' Report.

To the Hon. Wm. P. Hill, Judge, &c.—

The undersigned Receivers of the Confederate States for the Tyler section of the Eastern District of Texas, in compliance with a suggestion of the Court, unite in making the following summary statement of their progress in the discharge of their duties during the past year, viz: from the 12th day of October, 1861 (the date of their appointment) to the present time.

Our official duties were commenced by the publication of a circular, giving notice to the people of the District of the passage and contents of the Sequestration Act of the Confederate States Congress, and of the contemplated mode of its execution.—Being aware that many persons entertained very erroneous views on the subject, and labored under prejudices against the law, which were likely to retard its prompt and accurate execution, and as a consequence produce interminable and expensive citation, we felt it a duty by all means in our power to remove those unfounded prejudices, and so fairly to explain the real objects and operations of the law, as to reconcile the public mind to it, and to induce all concerned therein to cooperate in good faith with us, in accomplishing all its wise and benificent provisions with the least possible expense and delay. We are happy to be able to say that our exertions in this respect have not been without success. With comparatively few exceptions, the merchants and others indebted to Alien Enemies, have, upon application, seemed to vie with each other in disclosing fully, fairly and promptly all the information required by the law. As a general rule we have visited every part of the District, and offered our personal services to each party, to draft his answer to the interrogatories attached to the writ of garnishment. This offer being thankfully accepted in nearly all cases, we thereby became acquainted with the character and means of most persons with whom we had to do, and this information must be of great value in the subsequent part of our labors. Our Clerks or Assistants have also held commissions as Deputy Marshals, so that we were at all times ready to serve process and take answers in all parts of the District, whenever and wherever we met with persons proper to be so served. In this manner we have carefully canvassed the District more than once. Owing however to the existence of the war, and consequent absence in the army of so large a portion of our citizens, we have not as yet been able to take the answers of all who may probably possess valuable information and owe many debts to Alien Enemies. But up to this time we have been able by these means to take and file, digest and collate, one thousand three hundred and fifty-eight answers.

These answers we have carefully digested in a book, (prepared by order of the Court) showing in tabular form all the debts and property reported by each garnishee. And the contents of this first Book of Digests have been carefully collated in a second Book under the name of each Alien Enemy to whom the same belonged. The Alien Enemies whose debts and other property are so collated amount to one thousand one hundred and forty seven (1147) in number.

The aggregate amounts of debts of Alien Enemies admitted by the debtors amounts to about, of making the aggregate of $2873000.00

From the character of this great mass of debts, embracing the delinquencies of many years of the commercial men of the District, it is not to be expected that the whole of this sum will be realized by collection. It is also possible that some of the debts reported may turn out to belong to citizens of the Confederacy, and not to Alien Enemies. Yet we are persuaded that recent debts of existing business men and firms will favorably compare with any other in the Confederacy.

Besides these debts there have been duly reported for sequestration about four hundred and twenty-six tracts of land, amounting to about two hundred and forty thousand acres, exclusive of about two hundred town lots. These lands have been listed for taxation in the various counties where situated, both for the State and Confederate tax, and the latter tax generally paid. Taxes due the State for previous years have also been paid.

In addition to the debts and lands reported for sequestration, there are many small lots of personal property reported to the Receivers and put in their charge, consisting of slaves, horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, and many other articles, including a great variety of patent medicines. Some of these have been sold, and some yet remain to be sold. The amended law, requiring all property to be sold at public auction, will occasion a great increase of labor and expense, in selling personal property, and it is believed result in loss to the fund.

There have already been decrees of sequestration rendered in this Court in one thousand three hundred and nineteen (1319) cases, and final judgments rendered on the Debt Docket against one hundred and seventy-seven (177) persons.

Owing to the great accumulation of office work there is much yet to be done to prepare all the reported and sequestrated cases for final judgment.—And here we may be permitted to remark, that owing to the scarcity of suitable clerk labor and to the increased expense of living at this time, we shall be obliged to increase the rate of compensation heretofore allowed for that kind of service. But in yielding to the necessity of such increase of clerk labor and rate of compensation, we shall not overlook the duty of due economy in all our expenditures.

The total deficiency of books and stationery in this part of the State will make it necessary that we send East of the Mississippi River for supplies. This extraordinary expense we see not means of obviating.

We have not as yet applied for decrees to sell any of the lands sequestrated, (except one tract under special circumstances) and propose to postpone so doing (unless a different policy shall be required by the Court or the Government) until our people shall have returned from the war. It seems to us unjust towards our brave soldiers to offer for sale these valuable lands in their absence, and thus exclude them from all participation in the purchase;—and equally impolitic in the Government to dispose of so much valuable land in the absence of, perhaps, seven tenths of those most likely to desire to purchase. Such a course could hardly fail to place most of these valuable lands in the hands of speculators, at nominal prices. We suggest, however, that in any case where a person living in the neighborhood of any particular tract of land shall agree with the Receivers to open the biddings for such tract, at what may be considered a fair price, that such tract may be offered for sale, either with directions in the decree that the biddings open at that price, or notice in the advertisement to the same effect. It is important that every thing be avoided calculated to discredit these sales, and hence we think it impolitic in any case to withdraw land from sale on account of inadequate bids, except where a minimum price has been mentioned in the advertisement.

It may not be improper here to mention what it really affords us pleasure to mention, that all the officers of the Court, including our Clerks and Deputy Marshals, have uniformly exhibited the greatest possible energy, zeal and skill in the discharge of their respective duties, and we respectfully submit that the year’s work of the Court and its officers in this section of the District, the circumstances being considered, ought to be regarded by the Court and the Government as altogether satisfactory.

In conclusion, the undersigned cannot refrain giving expression to the lively hope with which they are inspired, that before it becomes their duty to make another annual report to the Court, their beloved country will have achieved its independence by its victorious arms, and that peace and prosperity will have again blessed the land, and that they may be enabled to look forward with rational hope to ages of progress and prosperity unequalled in the annals of nations.

Respectfully submitted,

M. A. Long,
T. A. Patillo,
Jas. H. Starr.

Write to the Soldier.—Persons who have friends in the army (and who has not?) should write to them often, remarks the Charleston Courier. Nothing, aside from the substantial comforts of camp life in the form of good clothing and other similar et ceteras, is so much appreciated by the weary, toil worn soldier, as a hearty, cheerful letter from home. We should set aside certain days in each week in which to write to our soldier friends. Any one who has visited our camps and witnessed the eagerness with which the soldier inquires for letters how diligently they are read when received and how carefully he preserves these little missives of love and friendship—cannot fail to realize the amount of good he may do in this respect.

Mail Matters Again.

Two or three weeks ago we indulged in a rather plain and spirited complaint about mail matters, referring directly at the time to the route from Vicksburg by way of Shreveport, Marshall and Camp's [Camp's?] Ferry, on the Sabine river. As we intended and hoped, the article then published fell under the attention of the post masters along the route, and we are now in receipt of two letters concerning the matter. We should have replied before now but for the fact that we have been absent from home since that publication until now. We have now only to say that we considered the complaint truthful and proper at the time it was published, and none too strong for the circumstances—though then, as now, we had no intention or disposition to become "abusive or scurrilous" except so far as the really guilty were concerned. We knew not then, nor do we yet know, where the fault lay, but fault there was, and we spoke in a pointed and plain way in order to bring the matter certainly to notice.—We like the bold manner in which the post masters at Shreveport and Marshall have spoken out, and having no reason to question their veracity, we take pleasure in exculpating them from blame. Let others along the line "clear their skirts" and perform their duties, and we shall have regular and correct mails.

Our duty as a journalist we apprehend to be to labor for the public good, and in the article referred to we attempted to discharge that duty, without intending to blame or abuse any one not guilty, but simply by uttering what we believed to be true. If the Marshall and Shreveport papers published the former article, they are requested to publish this also.

After an exceedingly dry spell of weather, it has again clouded up, and we have in a day or two had rain enough to lay the dust, and probably benefit the grain crops. At the present writing it is turning cold, with indications of snow. Health generally good through the country we believe, and everything quiet.

Fires are getting to be quite common in the towns through the country. The last number of the Republican announces a fire in Marshall, which resulted in considerable damage. Dr. Joseph Taylor was the principal sufferer, we believe, his residence being burned. It is now the season for fires—we are compelled to keep them in all our houses. Let it be remembered, that a house or town will burn down as easily when set on fire by accident as when the torch is applied by the hand of the incendiary. We should guard against both alike.

We have been shown a counterfeit two dollar bill, of Smith County Treasury Warrants, which has been sent to the County Clerk here. The bill is different in almost every particular from the genuine. The type is different, and the whole face of the bill shows the counterfeit plainly. The wording of the counterfeit and genuine is different, the genuine reading thus: "The Treasurer of Smith County will pay Two Dollars to Bearer," and the counterfeit, "The Treasurer of Smith County will pay to Bearer Two Dollars." The signature of the counterfeit cannot be exactly made out, while all the genuine bills are plainly signed by R. W. Chapman, Clerk, &c. There are two different issues of Smith County Notes, with different dates, and in some the type is different, but the wording is the same in all. Such is the case with the two dollar issue. Caution will always detect the counterfeit.

An Immense Train.—During the last four days the immense train of waggons [sic] brought by our army from Kentucky, has been passing through the city in a continuous stream, making a ceaseless rumble that might be compared to a "protracted meeting of earthquakes. Allowing that these waggons [sic]—all drawn by good conditional stock—travel twenty miles a day, this monster train already stretches out to eighty miles in length, and the cry is, still they come." We may well exclaim of it as Macbeth did of the apparitions of Banquo's issue "Will the line stretch out till the crack of doom?"

Obituary.

Died, at Tyler, on the 28th inst., Annie Hutchings, daughter of John and Martha F. Winship, six years three months and nineteen days old.
She had a mind quite in advance of her years—remarkably sprightly and handsome—indeed she was attractive. No admirer of intelligence in childhood could behold her, much less converse with her, without being forcibly struck with combined beauty, wit and amiableness. But all these endowments, and the lavished love of her devoted parents, could not save her from the jaws of death. She told her mother that she was going to her home in heaven, where she would see her little brother who died some months since. A sad stroke is this—while the father is absent in the service of the country, to hear and mourn for his sweet Annie. The mother is left to mourn alone; only one little lamb left out of a flock of three.

"I take these little lambs," said He,
"And lay them in my breast;
Protection they shall find in Me,
In Me be ever blest."

May heaven bless the stricken mother, and prepare the absent father for the sad intelligence.

Mr. Hamilton:

Some seven or eight days ago, the Yankee transport "Honduras" anchored off the mouth of the Rio Grande, and amongst its precious cargo was to be found E. J. Davis, a renegade citizen of Texas, who at one time disgraced the Texas bench, but who now is commissioned a Colonel in the abolition army; the notorious murderer and renegade, Montgomery, with a commission as Captain, was his confrere and fellow traveller. They came to Matamoras, and for several days, were engaged in enlisting renegades into their service at that point. Some few desertions from a certain class of our soldiery occurred, and owing to the assumed neutrality of Mexico we were forced to submit to it. We met daily in the streets these hated minions of a Government which has been seeking for two years to accomplish our destruction, and were forced to stay the avenging hand; were forced to submit to witness the loathsome sight of those who claimed to be citizens of Texas, parading the grand Plazas of Matamoras in the Federal uniform. Some 170 of these traitorous wretches had congregated there, and reveled in their supposed security. A few days ago they left Matamoras, and proceeded to Bagdad, a Mexican town near the mouth of the river, and just opposite a point where a small Confederate force was stationed. Here again they began a series of indignities which were very provoking. Being still impressed with the idea of their safety, on account of the declared neutrality of the soil upon which they were camped, and emboldened by being under the guns of the "Honduras," their cowardly natures prompted them to peer at and insult our brave boys. On the night of the 14th of March, Gen. Bee having gone to "Point Isabel," the boys thought the opportunity too good to be lost, and "made their arrangements according." About 25 of them left Fort Brown, and by the time we reached the mouth the number was increased to 70. We secured a sufficient number of boats to cross our entire force at once. This we did at 4 o'clock a.m. After reaching the town, our force was so disposed as to cut off the retreat of the renegades. Learning that the Mexican Commandante had about 160 Mexican soldiers in the town, and not wishing to come, unnecessarily, in conflict with them, the commandante was notified of our purpose and requested to withdraw his soldiers from the danger of a collision.--Surrounding the house in which Col. Davis was said to be, he was ordered to surrender, and, I regret to say, he did so. Had he made resistance, the world would have been well rid of a treacherous monster, and Texas of one of her most unworthy citizens. The notorious Capt. Montgomery, who was a participant with "Jim Lane" in his Kansas outrages, was soon afterwards captured, with some five or six others. Many of them eluded our search by hiding in Mexican houses, in steamboats, schooners, &c., but many of them, in attempting to escape, were unfortunate, and are now filling the capacious maws of Mexican "riotas" and Buzzards. At 6 o'clock a.m. we had accomplished our work, and were returning to our boats for the purpose of recrossing the river into "Dixie land," when the Mexicans dashed out of their houses and delivered upon us a deafening but harmless volley. Our commander immediately wheeled the boys into line, and ordering them to hold their fire, returned to the town and assured the Mexican authorities that we had no design to injure the people or insult the nationality of Mexico. This seemed to quiet them, and we again resumed our march, when some 60 or 80 Mexicans again made a dash and fired upon us. This time we had one of our boys wounded, and could stand it no longer. We were ordered to fire, and upon the first fire these "heroic soldiers" fled in confusion.

Having accomplished our purpose, we crossed the river and started for Fort Brown, where we arrived safely with one prisoner only, (Col. Davis) the others having escaped on the route. Davis would have escaped also, but for the fact that when taken, his wife was with him, and made such a strong appeal to our commander to spare his life, that he agreed to do so, until delivered to Gen. Bee, and the boys faithfully adhered to this promise. He was to-day delivered to Gen. Bee by some unknown parties. The Mexican authorities regarding the crossing into their territory as a violation of her neutrality, demanded the return of Davis, which Gen. Bee, in order that we might not complicate our affairs at this time by a war with Mexico, and for other important commercial reasons, acceded to. Davis may thank his stars that he had a wife, and that his wife happened to be the daughter of Forbes Britton, and happened to be present when he was captured--else his long, ungainly, foul carcass would now be dangling from a Rio Grande Maguite. [sic?] Unless he leaves this section of the country immediately, his release will only be temporary.

I am only reconciled to his being permitted to return to his infamy, by the hope that I shall soon meet him upon the battle-field, when the tears and entreaties of his wife, may not stay the hand of vengeance. I wish I could mention the names of the brave boys who participated in the arrest and punishment of these vile traitors, but predential considerations restrain me. They all acted like the genuine Texas soldier, and showed themselves capable of great achievements. I counted 72 vessels, lying off the mouth. To-day an English-man-of-war, came to anchorage. The morning of the fight, a Yankee vessel left for New Orleans, for reinforcements, and we may have lively times here in a few days. We will probably fight against odds, but I feel confident of the result.

I have written you a long letter, but hope you and your readers may find something of interest in it. To them, as to you, if it should prove uninteresting, I promise to do better next time.

Yours, with the greatest confidence in your prudence and patriotism.

ARKANSAS POST PRISONERS.—The Little Rock True Democrat has the following concerning the Arkansas Post Prisoners. We trust their treatment in prison has not been so bad as represented. It now appears very certain that they have been exchanged, we shall probably hear from them soon:

The prison at Camp Douglas, Chicago, is a prefect pest house and slaughter pen. Our brave men immured in these dungeons die rapidly, and the infernal rascals who control the prison refused the patriots blankets, medicines or proper food. It was a vast receptacle of mud and filth, surrounded or covered by stagnant water, and so unhealthy that the guards stationed there began to sicken and die. The small pox broke out, and the would-be murderers became alarmed at the danger of disease spreading and grew afraid that in their attempts at the slow murder of patriots, they might spread disease among themselves. Of late, we are told, they have made some efforts to clean up the prison and build a hospital. Whenever we have found a list of deaths there, we have published the names of the Missourians, Arkansians and Texians. The following we find among the names of those who died in the four days, from 24th to 27th February:

[We only give those from Texas.]

HORRIBLE DEATH OF CONFEDERATE PRISONERS.—The death by freezing of twelve Confederate prisoners at Camp Douglas, Ohio, has been noticed. The 22th [sic] Illinois (Scotch) regiment, on guard there held a meeting and protested against the condition of the camp and barracks. The Chicago Times has the following particulars of the death of the prisoners:

Word was brought to the city last evening that during the night of Sunday, twelve of the Confederate prisoners confined in the pens at Camp Douglas were frozen to death. It is asserted that on Monday morning they were found in the miserable handful of hay in their bunks frozen stiff, though to all appearances in the enjoyment of perfect health the day previous. The barracks of Camp Douglas are well known to be totally unfitted, during the prevalence of such weather as the present, for the use of anything, scarcely cattle. Those in which these prisoners are confined are many of them destitute of stoves, the windows in some of them are broken out, and through the holes and the cracks in the apertures in roof the cold wind freely enters.

It is said that the local officers at the camp, actuated by a humanity their superiors might pattern after with profit, have done all in their power to make the condition of the prisoners comfortable.--But there are those above them who have a terrible sin to answer for. It were mercy that, after their capitulation, our cannon had been turned upon these prisoners and butchered them where they stood, rather than a far Southern clime, without any preparation being made for their comfort or protection, they should be transported hither, to meet with scarcely anything worthy the name of shelter, the fierce rigors of a Northern wind--to be murdered by neglect--to endure the tortures of a death by cold.

Whenever, says the Rebel, you hear of a regiment, battalion, company, or squad, infantry or cavalry, destroying fences and other property of farmer citizens, you may safely set it down that the Colonel, Lieutenant Colonel, Captain or Sergeant of the party is not fit for an officer, and a disgrace to the honorable profession of arms.

The above contains a great truth and an important lesson, which it will be well to learn.

For the Benefit of the Graveyard.

We are much gratified to learn that the young ladies of the East Texas Female College, assisted by others of the town and vicinity, have determined to give an entertainment on Friday evening, the 24th inst., consisting of tableaux, farces, plays, &c., for the benefit of our grave yard. We need not appeal to the citizen for liberal patronage by saying that the necessity exists, because for years past the condition of the Tyler grave yard has been a blot upon the reputation of the town, a burning disgrace to its citizens, and a cause of derision and contempt to the passing stranger. We have heretofore urged our fellow-citizens to remove this shame, but we have appealed in vain, and are now but too happy to see this move in the right direction. We are requested to say that this entertainment is not gotten up in opposition to those which have preceded it, but alone for the purpose of accomplishing the good contemplated. Let all attend—for God and civilization's sake let us make decent the place where sleep the loved and lost!

When everybody in the community is present to see for themselves, our opinion is of very little consequence; but we beg to say that the entertainment on last Friday night eclipsed its predecessor, and was all that heart and eye and ear could wish. Who could witness the scene of the "Flower Girl" without feeling that, indeed, "A thing of beauty is a joy forever;"

or who behold the scene of the "Death of John Marshall" without feeling his heart bound with love for the brave, sorrow for his fall, and everlasting hatred for his slayers. The "murder of a young lady by the abolitionists in Missouri," was well represented, and was an affecting scene. Many beautiful scenes were presented, but such things must be seen to be appreciated. Each interval was filled with sweetest music, and the whole entertainment was a perfect feast. We dislike personality, but cannot refrain from having special reference to the rare musical abilities of Prof. Neel!

The combined receipts of the two exhibitions are very handsome, and the money has been placed in the hands of a committee, consisting of five of our most worthy citizens, and will be properly disposed of. Great good is being accomplished in this way; the people are responding nobly, and we sincerely hope that the managers and performers will not grow weary in a work so full of charity.

TYLER REPORTER, April 16, 1863, p. 2, c. 3

The Henderson Times claims to have information from good authority, that so soon as it was known that the Legislature, at the late called session, had determined to permit the distilleries to continue in operation, those interested in the business in the Southwest portion of Rusk county, immediately bought up all the corn for sale in that portion of the county at three dollars per bushel, and in consequence it is almost impossible for some poor families in that section to procure bread.--Of course, neighbor; who expected anything better? Our legislators must have foreseen such results but what difference does it make who starves, so there is plenty of whiskey! Let Rome burn--let Nero sing!

Matamoras is said to be filled with goods, and causes are operating to give prices a downward tendency. On the 28th there were nearly a hundred vessels at the anchorage awaiting their discharge.

Circular.

Head Quarters Clark's Regiment,

To the people of Texas:

You have always been noted for the readiness with which you give aid to your country when she needs assistance. You have liberally and nobly contributed in the prosecution of the present war. You are still willing to do so, I know, if further contributions are necessary. Though the present indications are somewhat propitious, we should depend alone upon ourselves for peace. Other nations may help us when it suits their interest to do so, and our enemy is not worthy of trust in any case. There may yet be much hard fighting to do to end the war, and the commands now in the field having been depleted by death and other causes, need replenishing. It devolves upon you to fill them up, and I therefore invite your attention to the following extract from a circular of the Adjutant and Inspector General, of date the 18th January, 1863:

"Such persons as are liable to conscription will be allowed to join any particular company and regiment, requiring recruits, in which the officers "(enrolling or recruiting)" may be serving. In like manner such persons as are within conscript ages, and who may come forward and offer themselves for service, will be allowed to volunteer, and will receive all the benefits which are secured by law to volunteers. Recruits thus obtained, however, must, in all cases, enter companies already in the service, and cannot be organized into new companies or regiments."

By the above extract you perceive that you still have the opportunity of volunteering. Forced service is distasteful to you. It would be an anomaly in the history of Texas. I desire to replenish my regiment, and invite you to join me. I would be pleased to receive you, and think you would find as pleasant service in my command and the Brigade to which it is attached, as any other. Capt. L. B. Wood, Company "K," of Polk county, and Lt. J. D. G. Adrian, Company "C," of Smith county, are on their way to Texas, and are authorized to recruit for their respective companies. Other recruiting officers will be dispatched to Texas and notice given.

Attention!

All persons who have heretofore been exempted, in the county of Smith, from enrollment for service, under either of the following heads, are ordered to report to me, at my office in Tyler, on or before the 20th [26th?] day of April next, for a fuller and more minute investigation of the grounds upon which exemptions in such cases were granted:
Salt Makers, Wagon Makers, Shoe Makers, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Millers, Overseers on the plantations of Widows and Soldiers, Persons taking care of indigent families, together with all others, who have not yet reported, between the ages of 18 and 40 years.
Those who are now standing exempt from either of the causes above mentioned, will be ordered into camps who refuse to obey this order, and treated as deserters.

Minute Men.

The idea has been suggested to us that, under present circumstances, it would be wise and safe to organize companies of Minute Men in every portion of the State, and especially in Eastern Texas. Banks' late raid into Louisiana should be an all sufficient warning to us, and an unmistakable evidence of what our enemies will do whenever the opportunity is presented to them. Gen. Smith suggests to the people of Texas the great necessity of being ready, and that pure patriot, Gen. McCulloch, seeing the danger to which his State has been and is still exposed, makes a most earnest and eloquent appeal to those at home, urging them to organize and hold themselves in readiness to meet the foe at a moment's notice. some may be disposed to settle down with an idea of quiet security, now that Banks' army has left Red River and retreated from their late scene of action and immediate danger no longer stares us in the face; but should Vicksburg fall (God forbid it!) it will, in our humble judgment, be but a short time until we will find the enemy again at our doors. We hope Vicksburg will stand; we believe Vicksburg will stand--but it may not; and whether it does or not, no injury can arise from preparation to meet emergencies. Will some of our influential citizens take the lead in this matter? In other counties companies are being organized—let us not be behind.

Messer. Wm. Green, Jo. W. Davenport, Geo. Yarborough, B. L. Goodman, and others:

Gentlemen—Your communication of the 18th inst., requesting me to become a candidate for Representative in the lower branch of the next Legislature, has been received and considered. Coming from the source it does, it seems to leave but little choice of my own. Were I to consult my own inclination and individual interest, I would certainly not be a candidate. In fact, I had at one time come to the conclusion that I would never again enter the field of political strife and excitement. But a great change has taken place in our country, and we are now in the midst of perilous times, engaged in a most cruel and bloody war with a great and powerful enemy, and all political issues and party feelings being laid aside, every true patriot should rally to the standard of his country, feeling that he is not his own, but that he belongs to his country, and that he should act in whatever capacity his fellow-citizens see proper to place him; and however feeble may be his efforts, yet he should do all in his power to aid in the achievement of the great end for which we are all striving--the independence of our country. With this view of the subject, I have concluded to consent to your request, fearing at the same time you have overestimated my capacity and ability. But however that may be, should I be elected, I will strive to do all in my power to promote the best interest of our county and the State at large.

Accept, gentlemen, my grateful acknowledgement for the kind expression of your confidence.

Your ob't serv't,
R. K. Gaston.

It is ever a pleasure to the weary soldier, after long months of absence and arduous service, to come back to the home of his youth, to receive the plaudits of his countrymen, the smiles of friends, and the embraces of loved ones; but how magnified and complete must be his joy when he returns to realize the fulfillment of a long cherished dream, to find a plighted faith well kept, and to meet the consummation of his great life hope. So thought we a few days ago, when our friend and old companion Capt. James P. Douglas arrived from east of the Mississippi—so thought we while we witnessed, on Thursday evening last, at the residence of Mr. B. H. White, the ceremonies which paired at Hymen's festive altar, the Captain's fate with that of the beautiful and accomplished Miss Sallie S. White. We need not consume time here in giving a minute account of the occasion; be it sufficient to say that everything necessary had been done to render all present comfortable; and while no "flying feet marked the passing of the hours," sweet music lent its magic influence to the scene, and many a heart beat high with hope and happiness on that night—but none so full perhaps, as those of the thrice happy pair. May life to them be ever full of gladness, and each unfolding year show them cause to bless the hour that joined their hearts and hands in this holiest earthly union.

How the Starving Plan Has Succeeded.—Those of Stoneman's raiders who got back to Sherman's army, brought the following report:

All agree in representing the Confederacy to be agriculturally in a most flourishing condition. The whole land is fat with corn and plenteous with pork while negroes are huddled in only less abundance than mules and horses. The region which they penetrated is level and exceedingly fertile; the women are described as no longer the gaunt, sallow, whining creatures which we see in Northern Georgia, but bitterly defiant and hostile towards the Yankees; but the men are absolutely swept out of the country. The vast tracts, stretching mile after mile, unbroken by the roadside, formerly devoted to cotton, now flourish with corn—the government allows only a quarter of an acre of cotton per hand. Georgia alone has enough corn in cultivation to subsist the whole rebel army for a year. They found considerable old corn and plenty of pork stored in cellars in bulk. At Madison they destroyed 500 sacks of genuine Rio coffee and large quantities of rebel shoes made of stout cotton cloth.

In short, the rebels have of imported luxuries but little to spare; but of the substantial the material for sturdy muscle and the basis of hard fighting they have an abundance.

We would like to be informed what has become of that tremendous patrol appointed by the County Court some time ago, for the purpose of keeping in proper bounds the "free persons of African descent" among us. We understand that a double, perhaps a triple, patrol had been appointed, but they are certainly doing but little work, or are very silent about it. One thing we call special attention to: We believe negroes have as much right to go to heaven as anybody else, provided they go in the right way; but we are emphatically opposed to the policy of allowing them to occupy churches and do their own preaching in their own way. In fact, we are not greatly in favor of assembling them in congregations under any circumstances.

The "San Antonio Herald" is also again on our table, after a long absence. The Hon. Louis T. Wigfall addressed the people here on Tuesday last. Many citizens and soldiers were present to hear him, and as he has spoken in many portions of the State within the past few months, and as most of the papers in the State, including the Reporter, have published synopses of his views, we doubt the necessity now of attempting even a short and, as it must necessarily be, imperfect report of his speech. However, the topics discussed by him are so important, so vitally interesting to the whole people, that we cannot refrain from offering those who have not had the good fortune to hear him at least a glance at them.

Almost his entire address was directed to a review of the actions of Congress.
In conclusion, Mr. Wigfall appealed to the patriotism of the people, asking the ladies especially to do their high and holy duty. . . .

From Austin.

Rep. Hall, Austin, Texas. }
Oct. 28th, 1864. }

Dear Van:--In my last, I stated that probably the legislature would appropriate the Fabries [sic—Fabrics] of the Penitentiary for the support of the families of soldiers from Texas, in the army or active service of the Confederate States, or of the State of Texas, as also for those who have died or been killed in the service of the country. This still seems to be the favorite plan of many members, but the plan has not yet ripened into maturity, though the proper committee is preparing a Bill which will probably be presented to the House for its consideration to-day.

The advantages which are claimed by the advocates of this measure are that an appropriation from this institution is from a common fund, and bears equally upon all the property of the State; that it will ensure to them a permanent benefit because the cloth is an article of prime necessity and is not subject to fluctuations on account of depreciation of currency.

2ndly. by reason of the passage of such an act we can greatly curtail the issue of Treasury Warrants, and thereby save an indebtedness against the State, which will ultimately have to be liquidated in specie.

3rdly. It is contended that by an equitable distribution of the Penitentiary Fabries [sic—Fabrics], as above contemplated, a vastly greater quantity of those Fabries [sic-Fabrics] will reach the soldiery than through the present system of sale to and distribution by agents of the Confederate Government.

The amount of cloth which can be distributed from the Penitentiary, it is hoped, will be sufficient to furnish adequate means for the purposes herein contemplated, but in the event there should be a deficiency in any county after the distribution of the cloth, it is proposed to extend to the county Courts the authority to levy and have collected an advalorum Tax in specie, or other funds, or in produce at their discretion, to make up the deficiency. This is subject to some objection on the score of inequality; but it is thought to be the most practicable under the circumstances. This subject is very much embarrassed by reason of the different conditions in the different localities of the State. One county calls for a specie tax, another for a produce tax, and another for a tax in Treasury Warrants; hence the difficulties with which we have to contend, and hence the necessity of allowing large discretion to county Courts in order to make our action general. The Bill above referred to, has just been reported from the committee on Finance, and I am of opinion it will pass the House, retaining its principal features. It has just been ordered to be printed, and as soon as a printed copy can be procured I will forward you one. As to the general financial policy, I am not able to determine as yet, there seems to be so much diversity of opinion in relation to the matter. The most probably plan in my opinion is to continue to receive in payment of the advalorum tax, Confederate money, and endeavor to bolster up the State issue by a tax on occupations, payable in Treasury Warrants. But as this is mere matter of conjecture I will leave off further comments upon this subject until my next, when I hope to have facts instead of conjecture.

The sad intelligence of the death of the Hon. G. M. Brazier, member from Houston co., was announced to the House this morning by his colleague, Hon. Mr.
Wooters, whereupon the House adopted suitable resolutions, expressing their deep regret at the loss of this useful member, and extending their condolence to the family of the deceased, and stood adjourned until to-morrow at 6 o'clock. More Anon.

Very Respectfully,

F. M. Hays.

[We are in possession of the bill above referred to as printed, but have not room for it
this week.—ED.]

Sequestrated Property

For Sale.

Pursuant to the several decrees of the Hon. District Court of the Confederate States for the Western District of Texas, I will offer for sale to the highest bidder 250,000 Acres of Land!!

sequestrated as the property of alien enemies, for Confederate Treasury Notes or Bonds, at the following times and places, to-wit: . . .

Fifty Thousand Acres at Tyler, Smith County, on Monday, the 12th of December, '64. . . .

The lands are situated in Parker, Jack, Young, Throckmorton, Baylor, Knox and Haskell Counties, on the upper Brazos and Trinity Rivers and tributaries. They are well selected, and are in a good stock and small grain country, with plenty of water and timber, and are in surveys from 320 to 2200 acres.

The old issue will be received at the legal value. The new issue and interest bearing notes will be taken at their face value, as also bonds. These lands will be specially described by plots and maps on the days of sale.

The receiver will give his receipt for the purchase money, containing a description of the land sold.—He will report the sale to the Court at the January term, '65. Should the sales be confirmed by the Court, he will immediately pass deeds of conveyance to purchasers and take up his receipt.

All persons who purchased at his last sales, are notified that their deeds are ready, and are in the hands of Thos. U. Toler & G. W. Brooks, Dis. Dep. Marshal at Weatherford, Parker county, with whom they will leave his receipt upon getting their deeds.
