Library Given Medical Book Collection

Books of Long-time Tyler Doctor Received

A collection of medical books of the late Dr. Hascall Muntz has been contributed to the library of The University of Texas at Tyler by his wife.

The collection of several hundred — plus office equipment and a copy machine — represents the largest single gift to the library since it was opened. Value of the books is more than $9,000 and the total gifts exceed $11,000.

"Hascall liked knowledge. He taught chemistry in college and taught nurses in medical school. It will be meaningful to know that his medical books and journals will continue to serve a useful purpose," Mrs. Muntz said in presenting the collection to Mrs. Olene Harned, university librarian.

Dr. Muntz practiced medicine in Tyler from 1948 until his death in January 1981. The Vienna, Austria native came to the United States with his family when he was six months old. They settled in Toledo, Ohio. He received his B.S. degree from the University of Toledo and his medical degree from Indiana University School of Medicine.

He served on the staffs of Indiana University Medical Center Hospital, Mother Frances and Medical Center Hospitals in Tyler. He also served two years in the Medical Corps in the U.S. Army.

Dr. Muntz was a member of the American Medical Association, associate member of the American College of Physicians, American Diabetes Association, American Heart Association, American Trudeau Society, Smith County Medical Society, Inc., American Geriatrics Society, the Royal Society of Health, American Society of Internal Medicine, Texas Medical Association, Texas Society of Internal Medicine and Texas Diabetes Association.

Dr. Muntz published several articles in medical journals, including one on mumps vaccine, method of mixing insulins and one on Rocky Mountain spotted fever.

He was president of the East Texas Symphony in 1957 and belonged to Temple Beth El.

Mrs. Evelyn Muntz, a Kilgore native, continues to live in Tyler with their youngest son, William, a student at Moore Middle School. Other children include: David Muntz, a resident of Dallas and a director of the computer department at Wadley Institute in Dallas;
