Other items to be presented by the Campus and Building Committee include a contract change and campus master plan revision.

Two areas to be decided under the master plan revision include landscape and land use. Faculty Workload Policy Given Approval By Board

A revised faculty workload policy for Texas Eastern University was approved by the board of regents at an Oct. 18 meeting. Although the basic faculty workload of 12 hours for fall and spring and six hours for summer terms has not changed, some additions to the policy have been included in order to meet more fully the requirements suggested by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

The Academic and Personnel Committee of the board did not present the procedures for resolving a grievance at the Oct. 18 meeting. Additional study is to be given the proposal by the committee prior to presenting a policy for board consideration.

In other action, the regents voted to retain present traffic circulation on campus and the entrance/exit at Old Omen Road and selected a place to locate a coliseum, a proposed building in Phase IV.

Approval was also given to purchase new equipment including a new platemaker, a press, color-head for a press and stapler for the print shop.
