Pornography debate set July 21

A debate on Texas laws regarding pornography will be held Thursday, July 21 in ADM 127. Open to the public, the debate is being coordinated by Tom Viles, U.S. District Court clerk, who is teaching a course in constitutional law.

Debating the need for tougher pornography laws will be Alan Sears, Citizens for Decency Through Law member and former executive director of the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography; and Gara LaMarch, Texas Civil Liberties Union executive director.

Annual power outage planned Aug. 13, 14

The annual power outage has been scheduled for the weekend of Aug. 13-14. Power will be out in all campus buildings, except the Art Studio, 7 a.m. - 1 p.m. on both Saturday, Aug. 13 and Sunday, Aug. 14.

University Bookstore changes management

Texas Book Company of Greenville, Texas, has been awarded a contract to operate the University Bookstore. Part of the change in service is the relocation of several functions, including:

Ricoh copiers: Responsibility for stocking, maintaining records, and billings for Ricoh copiers has been assigned to the Print Shop. Problems, material needs and auditron readings should be phoned to Gaynell Zimmers, ext. 7236.

Central Stores: The bookstore will continue to handle many of the items used by various offices and will provide a charge system for M&O accounts. The following items may be acquired through the Print Shop or the University Bookstore in order to take advantage of state contract purchasing: thermofax masters, legal pads, copy paper, tape, and computer labels. A list of those items available through the Print Shop and those items available through the bookstore will be made available to university personnel.

The bookstore will continue to provide faculty and staff discounts of 10 percent on all items over $1, excluding textbooks and several items offered at cost or below.

University Players slate production

"Happily Ever After," a play for children featuring two fairy tales will be presented by the University Players Friday - Sunday, Aug. 5 - 7 in ADM 127.

Performances are scheduled 7 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5; 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6; and 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 7.

Cast members are: Paula Ellis, Floyd Brigdon, Elizabeth Michaels, Ashley Perkins, Kevin Coughlin, Lisa Henry, Jenny Beaty, Deana Tedford, Deniece Ward and Billy Slaughter.

Complimentary tickets are available to faculty and staff by calling Janee McGoff in the Department of Drama and Communication, ext. 7254.
