INTERCOM

THE UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT TYLER

Jazz, trombone choir and symphonic concerts will be presented this month by the Department of Music. All performances are open to the public at no charge and will be held in the University Center.

George Faber will direct the UT Tyler Jazz Band at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 18. Guest performers include Jim Hunter, bass; Chauncey Smith, drums; and Charles Barnett, percussion.

An 18-member trombone choir from UT Arlington will be hosted at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 20. Directed by Andrew M. Russell, associate professor of trombone at UTA, the performance will include music of Bach, Brahms, Wagner and Bruckner.

UT Tyler's Symphonic Band, directed by Richard Highfill, will feature works by noted composer William H. Hill in a concert beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 23. Concert selections include Hill's arrangement of Bach's "Arioso," featuring an all-student flute trio, and "St. Anthony Variations."

Guest conductor during the Symphonic Band concert will be Hubert Almany, director of fine arts for Lindale I.S.D., who will conduct the march "King Karl King" by Henry Fillmore. "Battle for Kennesaw," an original composition by Rick Parker, also will be performed. Parker, assistant band director for Van I.S.D., composed this music as part of his graduate studies at UT Tyler. ★

Art lecture to be presented Nov. 30

Dr. Beverly Brown of the Kimball Art Museum will discuss "The Paintings of Giambattista Tiepolo" at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 30 in LIB 401. Presented by Friends of the Arts and the Department of Art, the lecture is free to faculty, staff and students.

Brown is assistant director of programs and academic services/curator of exhibitions at the Kimball Museum in Fort Worth. Prior to this position she was curator of southern baroque painting at the National Gallery of Art, where she also served as research curator of European painting, curator of Italian Renaissance painting and senior research associate of the Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts.

Brown has taught at Georgetown, Princeton and Harvard universities. She received a Ph.D. from Northwestern University.

Alumni sponsor
Phon-a-thon

The Alumni Association will sponsor a Phon-a-thon during the evenings of Nov. 15 - 18. This fundraising effort provides scholarships and alumni support for campus activities.

Alumni Association board members coordinating the Phon-a-thon include: Brad French, president; Blair Blackburn, vice president; Duel Glass III, Phon-a-thon chairman; Michelle Blackburn, secretary; and Jeff Davis and Rene Hopper.

Other board members participating will be Sherlyn Buchanan, Winston Green, Helen Hoeffner, Denise Jarrett, Traci Kenner, Dr. Kenneth Muckelroy and Mary Lou Tyer. Additional groups participating include members of the Alumni Association, Student Foundation and Student Association; scholarship recipients; choir members; and students and faculty.

in the spotlight

Dr. Marianthi Coroneou, assistant professor of English as a Second Language, attended the TESOL State Convention Nov. 4 - 6 in Dallas. She presented a paper, "Linking the Professional Training with the Personal Development of the ESL Educator in East Texas."

Dr. James Harbaugh, associate professor of technology, hosted the American Society of Quality Control (ASQC) Forum IX satellite downlink live national conference for members of the East Texas ASQC Oct. 18 at Robert R. Muntz Library. The conference, held in observance of national quality month, was transmitted from Washington, D.C. and sponsored by AT&T, Fidelity Investments, "Fortune" magazine and ASQC. A video replay was presented in Longview Oct. 21 where Harbaugh participated as a conference panel member.

Dr. Joy-Ellis McLemore, senior lecturer in English, chaired a panel for Baylor University's annual Browning conference Nov. 4 - 6 in Waco. Her involvement in this convocation anticipates her post-doctoral research during fall 1994 at Armstrong Browning Library funded by Baylor.

Dr. Mac Moseley, School of Education and Psychology dean, chaired a state committee gathering information regarding need for residential care facilities for persons with mental disabilities. He will present his report and recommendations to the executive board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas Dec. 7 in Dallas. Moseley has conducted workshops within the last year to parents of children with disabilities in Dallas; Phoenix, Ariz; Lynchburg, Va.; and Santa Fe, N.M.

Dr. Sandra Sayles-Cross, Division of Nursing director, presented "Black Faculty: Coalition Building in the Public - Private Sector," at the National Congress of Black Faculty Nov. 6 in Washington, D.C.

M.S. degree in biology approved

A master of science degree program in biology has been approved by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

The M.S. degree in biology will be a 36-hour thesis-based program requiring a minimum of 30 semester hours of graduate coursework and a six-hour thesis.

A research oriented degree, the program will provide students the opportunity to be involved in original scientific inquiry.

The program is designed to serve science teachers in the public schools and junior colleges, allowing teachers employed in the East Texas region to upgrade their skills; to increase the number of laboratory science personnel, including researchers at health centers and state agencies; and to prepare students for doctoral level study in biology.

INTERCOM is published every other Monday (excluding holidays) during fall and spring semesters, and once monthly during summer sessions, for UT Tyler faculty and staff. Deadline for written material is noon Wednesday in the News and Information Office, ADM 221.
